Vornado brings its uniquely effective heating design principles to a more personal level – introducing the VH202 Personal Vortex Heater. Unlike Vornado’s whole room heaters, the VH202 is designed to circulate heat specifically around your personal space – making it perfect for desktop, tabletop or under desk heating applications. The surprisingly powerful, yet quiet fan wraps you in comfortable superheated air. The VH202 offers noticeable performance from a minimal footprint- occupying less than 8 inches in any direction. Because the VH202 is a Vornado, it features powerful deep pitch fan blades, and advanced safety features such as tip over/heat overload protection and a cool-touch cabinet. Two heat settings allow you to customize your desired heating level, as well as toggle energy consumption between 375W and 750W to avoid the inconvenient circuit overloads that larger heaters can create. With the VH202 – Vornado takes your winter comfort personally.
